

COOK COUNTY COMMISSION ON SOCIAL INNOVATION

MORGAN MALONE

Morgan Malone is a public servant, expert in human-centered design and collective impact, and dedicated Southside resident. Hailing from Old Dominion University, Morgan majored in Women's Studies and has since worked across the civic landscape in a variety of roles that have informed her holistic lens and approach to finding solutions and fixing systems.

Known for her aptitude in building and restructuring systems and initiatives, Morgan is an experienced civic leader, skilled strategist, and consistent figure in Chicago's neighborhood and economic development sphere. As of May 2020, Morgan is the Director of Development and External Affairs for Farpoint Development, a commercial real-estate development firm.